

The Claretian Echo

You ain't been anythinged until you've been Echoed

VOLUME 2: ISSUE 65

SEPTEMBER 11TH 2013

I am paid to tell elaborate lies.

"Daisy Luke" gets key to closet on 21st

Comer is coming

Stay-away defender Niall Comer has explained his season-long absence by blaming transport issues. He claims he now has some new wheels and that he will be at training on Tuesday. He didn't say which Tuesday though!

Comer's new ride

St Clarets chairman John Kelly has revealed his delight at son Luke's decision to follow him into the drag queen game.

Kelly senior's own alter-ego Kelly Le Frock has been causing a stir in Soho for almost a decade. So when Luke revealed that what he wanted most for his recent 21st birthday was a spell at the world renowned Queen's School of Drag Artists in Brighton, John admitted that his heart swelled with pride.

"Every father wants to share time with his son" John told The Echo. "Now we'll be able to dress up together and it's something I'm looking forward to. Let's face it, the whole football things not happening for Luke is it!"

Meanwhile, Luke has told friends that the experience at Queen's was liberating and that he now wishes to be known as "Daisy Luke".

Daisy Luke: Kelly at drag queen school.

Gary's no Wynner with Rebecca

Gary Wynne: "To G-wynneth Just Once"

In a desperate attempt to convince Rebecca McDermott to name her new daughter Gwynneth, last week Claretian Gary Wynne made a late night call to the McDermott household.

Arriving at 4am, Wynne, carrying a red rose between his teeth, serenaded Rebecca from the street below with his adaptation of the Hot Chocolate hit which he called: "Everyone wants a Gwynneth Baby".

On hearing the racket, a furious, sleep deprived Rebecca appeared at the bedroom window and threw the contents of one-year old Joseph's potty out the window (including the potty), which landed on Wynne's head.

No Wynner: It all went a bit potty for Gary