

The Echo: It's a penalty - whether inside or outside.

The Weekend ECHO

July 12th 2015

Vol 1:

Issue 6

Inside next week's issue

Tadhg Lee's emotional tribute to his knitwear icon

Mila Mauled by Murphy

New signing Mila has wasted no time in up-setting senior boss Tony Murphy, by failing to show up for his senior debut last weekend.

Instead, the pedigree point-scorer opted to play for the club's Under 14s, where he is said to have "run the legs off everyone on the pitch".

Murphy however, remains angry with the decision and told The Echo: "Mila was simply a very bad dog and I knew by the way he came crawling into my office that he was aware that he had messed up.

Mila in action for U14s

"We've picked through the bones of the situation and I've sent him away with his tail between his legs, and hopefully something for him to chew on over the next few days."

Lynch in safe hands of supernanny

Claretians across the globe were quick to congratulate senior team skipper Aidan Donaghy and his wife Manpreet upon the news that they have managed to finalise the legal adoption of man-child Barry Lynch.

The announcement was made via Twitter, in conjunction with a simultaneous tweet from "supernanny" Mike Shea, who revealed that he would be taking on the role of personal carer to his fellow Kerry man.

When asked about the decision, a very proud Aidan explained: "I was talking to Manpreet one night, and in the background Barry's phone started to ring. His ringtone was "Nobody's Child", and when Manpreet heard it, she started to well-up and then said that we had to do something about it.

Mike Shea: simply the best latest addition to his family will be cared for.

"We spoke to Mike first because there was no way we wanted to entrust the upbringing of Barry to anyone, and as every Claretian knows, Mike is the best in the business when it comes to childminding. Once Mike agreed to become the nanny, then the rest of the decision was very easy."

Happy: Manpreet & Aidan

"To be honest, we have been feeding and clothing Barry for a long time now, as well as putting him to bed on occasions and cleaning up his mess. This arrangement just formalises the role we have been playing for the last number of years."

Donaghy then continued to give details about how the

Kelly paying the rent

Out of control corner back Luke Kelly this week found himself quite literally caught in the middle of a four-in-a-bed rent-boy romp, that has left manager Tony Murphy unsure on what steps to take with the wayward wing man.

Commenting on the pictures of Kelly in a four person, all-male embrace (right), Murphy merely said: "There are very few things that would surprise me in this world, and Luke in bed with three other men wouldn't be one of those few things."

